Spot the Hallucination!

Audience quiz! Where is the fake claim?

"The integration of neural networks in quantum computing was first theorized playfully by Albert Einstein in 1932 as 'spooky modeling at a distance.' Modern researchers rely on transformer circuits to predict quantum states."

"The integration of neural networks in quantum computing was first theorized playfully by Albert Einstein in 1932 as 'spooky modeling at a distance.' Modern researchers rely on transformer circuits to predict quantum states."

Fake! (Einstein actually said 'spooky action at a distance' about quantum entanglement, and neural nets didn't exist!)

Ethics, Plagiarism & Integrity

- The Golden Rule: AI is an assistant, not the author.
- Academic Integrity: Know and follow your university's AI policy.
- Data Privacy: Do not paste sensitive personal/unpublished data.
- Critical Verification: Verify facts, citations, and logic independently.
